REFERENCE TO THE REPORTED INCIDENTS OF SACRIFICE OF CHILDREN IN THE NAME OF RELIGION

MR. CHAIRMAN: Now, we will take up Special Mentions. Mr. K. K. Birla.

SHRI KRISHNA KUMAR BIRLA (Rajasthan): Mr. Chairman, Sir, every now and then we come across cases of human sacrifices on the basis of superstition and so-called religion. I referred to the other day a news which appeared in many newspapers that kids were dashed to death against walls. It was this which prompted me to make my Special Mention.

It is a matter of great regret that cases of human sacrifices are reported from time to time. Under the mistaken illogical and irrational that such sacrifices will result in the granting of some boons of fulfilment of some ambitions, people resort to human sacrifices to what they mistakenly consider as appeasing to some God or Goddess.

These are heinous act and acts of crime against the society. It is, therefore, disturbing that every now and then such incidents occur. The matter has to be tackled in two directions.

Firstly, there should be exemplary punishment for the guilty whenever such cases are brought to the notice of the police and the court.

Secondly, the more important thing is our social leaders and workers at every level should try to educate the people properly so that they do not resort to such sacrifices on the basis of senseless superstitions. Fortunately, the vast majority of people have got the very thought of such sacrifices. This will, therefore, make the task of the social workers comparatively easy. All the same, they have to make relentless efforts to wipe out such evil practices that still persist.
